It's a place for product lovers who share and geek out about the latest mobile apps, websites, hardware projects and technological creations. audioblocks.com/freemu... Now that there are so many options for licensing a free music subscription website, it can be time consuming to decide which one you would like to be a part of. In this article, we will outline the features, costs, licensing, pros and cons of Storyblocks Audio to help you make the most informed decisions about whether this is the best free music subscription website for your needs and goals. Storyblocks was born from two websites that were created in 2009, later branching into Audioblocks, which provides royalty free music, and then merging to create a single website called Storyblocks today. Storyblocks Audio is a subscription-based site that provides unlimited licenses for more than 100,000 songs, sound effects, and loops. Storyblocks Audio works well for podcasts because the website provides users with podcast-only playlists and allows them to even use podcasts as a search term to find the perfect background music. In addition, Storyblocks offers blogs on how to find the best intros, outros, loops and sound effects for your podcast. Video creators can also search with the term video and find background music and sound effects for their project. With unlimited all Storyblocks subscription access, video creators can also receive videos and photos, as well as free music. Storyblocks Audio Music LibraryStoryblocks updates its content frequently based on what users are looking for. Their library of more than 112,000 songs also includes sound effects and loops. Users can even search with the term best songs. Storyblocks Audio also created 24 curated lists of music, loops and sound effects organized by theme and mood. Songs appear as audio progresses, so video creators can easily see how long the song is being built before they reach climax. Get unlimited access to the ever-growing libraryUse your account and choose a subscription, you can organize your music by saving songs that you like and creating folders. To download music, simply fill out a little paperwork to complete the license coverage, and then you have the option to put the music into as many projects as you would like. Any content that users download will be theirs to be used forever. Users can search by mood, instruments, genres, tempo, duration and singing (lyrical or instrumental). Moods include happy, dark, inspiring, epic, love, playful, sad, relaxing and serious. Instruments include guitar, brass, percussion, orchestra, piano, vocals, breath and synthesizer. 30 genres are extensive, with music in the categories of blues, film, ambient, classical, country, electronic, folk, hip hop, vacation, jazz, corporate, kids and family, pop, R&A;B, religious and others. Users can also download an MP3 or WAV file, making the editing process easier. Storyblocks Audio devotes a whole section of the website to tips and tutorials that help users develop their skills on YouTube and podcast. The tutorials cover topics such as monetization of your YouTube channel and choosing the starting point of the podcast. Storyblocks Audio pricingStoryblocks has a wide range of subscription cost options. There are three different subscriptions for individuals: basic sound, unlimited audio, and unlimited access. All of these options come with a standard license, which means that the content is yours to use forever and there are no distribution and production budget constraints. This includes one person up to $20,000 in compensation. For basic audio subscriptions, users get three music downloads each month for $99 a year. Unlimited sound includes sound effects and costs $149 a year. Unlimited subscription access costs $349 a year and includes sound effects as well as video and photos. You can also choose to pay the monthly subscription price, but it's more expensive than paying for the whole year at once. A basic sound plan costs $9 per month, an unlimited sound plan costs $15 per month, and unlimited all access costs $65 per month. There are no free trials to join Storyblocks Audio, but occasionally you can find a code or Storyblocks Audio coupons or coupons that will give you a discount by taking a percentage of the price. Storyblocks Audio is a much more convenient choice than most free music websites if you frequently create content because you don't have to buy one song at a time - instead you sign in to everything at once. All content on storyblocks can be used multiple times for personal and commercial projects, and the music does not contain watermarks. It is particularly suitable for companies like Storyblocks Audio can cover up to $1 million in compensation, organization-wide licensing and permanent worldwide licensing services. Coverage of indemnification means that Storyblocks Audio gives you a legal guarantee that the content will not violate anyone's intellectual property rights. A single license applies to one person and gives that person rights to use the content, which means that only that person can use the music they download. This person can share the completed project, but cannot distribute the original media file. A business license grants trade licenses to all team members, which means that content can be shared across the company if the company has purchased the correct number of licenses. The Storybooks Audio license is much more appropriate than the Creative Commons license, which is one of the most common licenses for free public distribution of copyrighted music. The Creative Commons license orders users to release their projects under the same license as the music they used, which means that if you use free music for You have to release your movie for free and allow everyone to reuse your movie at no cost, making it difficult to generate profit. All music on Storyblocks Audio is erased for use in YouTube videos, but if you qualify for YouTube, the customer service team will help you go through every part of the solution process. Storyblocks Audio Customer ServiceThe Storyblocks Audio customer service team is highly recommended in online reviews, and many current members have mentioned that they respond very quickly. The only drawback is that users can only contact Storyblocks Audio between 9:30 a.m.m and 5 p.m., which is inconvenient for many freelancers who finish their work outside normal office hours and may not have anyone to help them if technical problems arise. What people love about Storyblocks AudioStoryblocks Audio has a high online rating, and users will appreciate the reasonable price of the platform compared to other free music subscription website royalties and a wide range of quality music that has helped them create compelling and professional projects. Members also liked the friendly and excellent service of the customer support team and mentioned that the customer support team resolved copyright issues very quickly. Users appreciate how big the Storyblocks Audio music library is and that it's updated frequently, so it's easy to find the music they're looking for. Members also appreciate that licensing is simple and comprehensive, making it easier to address all of YouTube's claims that come with the help of the efficient process that Storyblocks Audio uses. Finally, users mentioned that the Storyblocks Audio interface is visually aesthetic and easy to navigate. What people don't like about Storyblocks AudioSome users mentioned that they had trouble downloading files or tried to cancel their account and that the customer support team wouldn't issue them a refund when they asked for it. Other members lamented that they didn't realize that the auto-renewal settings were turned on and that they were being charged for a second membership. Some people mentioned that they would really like a free trial option to be able to try Storyblocks Audio before committing a subscription. Unfortunately, when the website underwent a major change a few months ago, many users lost their portfolio and saved content due to a technical glitch and were unable to recover their materials. Since Storyblocks Audio has been around in one form or another since 2009 and has grown into a fairly large license subscription music website, you can be sure it is perfectly legitimate and not a scam. One telling symptom of fraud is a short history and a low number of social media followers; However, Storyblocks Audio has a reputable history of 11 years and a great following on social media, with roughly 16,600 followers on YouTube, more than 1,600 followers on Facebook, more than 2,600 followers on Twitter Approximately 10,200 followers on Instagram.The pros and cons of Storyblocks AudioMost subscription options include an unlimited number of downloads. You can still use the download even if your subscription expires or is canceled. Storyblocks Audio licenses can be used worldwide and include unlimited use for individual or commercial projects. The platform covers up to $20,000 in compensation. Storyblocks Audio is not expensive compared to other free music websites and there are several subscription options. Due to the extensive number of genres and search terms, it is convenient for content creators to find exactly what they need. There are no hidden or additional fees. The music library is frequently updated. If you're already familiar with the effects template, it can be a bit time consuming to figure out how to integrate downloads from Storyblocks Audio the first time you do this. Is Storyblocks Audio | Audioblocks worth it in 2021? Storyblocks is a well-spaced, user-friendly website, and licensing is simple and comprehensive, making it easier for video and podcast creators. It's reasonably priced and has a large and often updated music library. A wide range of genres and search terms make it easy for content creators to find exactly what they're looking for, saving them time and effort. All in all, Storyblocks Audio is an excellent royalty free music subscription website. I wrote this review based on my honest experience and my vision of the company. I only write reviews about the services and products I personally use, like and believe in. I'm a glass-half-full kind of person and I usually try to see good things rather than wasting time thinking about the downsides. I firmly believe that if you act and devote some time and effort, you will get your money's worth and change your life for the better. While I always list disadvantages and try to be as objective as possible, I also think that focusing too much on negative aspects can lead to procrastination and have negative experiences.
